WEST WILL GET $40 MIL. GOVT. AID

A $40-million bonanza from Federal and State Treasuries is about to start flowing into the western region.

Mr. Phillip Cairns, private secretary to Federal MHR Dr. Jim Cairns, and liaison officer for the Western Region Commission, said this in an exclusive interview with the Star.

He said the $40 million would be made up of definite allocations of:

- A grant of $3 million to council making up the commission.
- A grant of $20 million from the State Hospitals and Charities Commission to build hospitals at Sunshine and Essendon.

Hospital

- An additional grant of $2 million for a north wing extension to the Western General Hospital

Mr. Cairns said the region could also expect an estimated:

- $12 million for education requirements.
- $3 million for sewerage, water and drainage works.

The councils which will benefit immediately from the direct federal $3 million grant are: Footscray, Sunshine, Werribee, Keilor, Melton, Bacchus Marsh and Bulla.

Three councils which have not yet joined the commission and could miss out on a share of the $3 million are: Essendon, Williamstown and Altona.

Mr. Cairns said he expected the three to become firm members of the commission before the budget was brought down.

"If not, I don't think it would be fair for them to share in what the commission has worked for," he said.

Mr. Cairns predicted other post-budget developments:

- Representation to have huge tracts of Commonwealth controlled land in the Sunshine district redefined as open areas and others set aside for housing and industrial development.

Hostel

• Permission from the Federal Housing Department for the Western Region Commission to take over, use and maintain the abandoned Wiltona complex in Kororoit Creek Road, Williams-town.

Mr. Cairns said the $3 million direct grant was one of the greatest boons to come to the western suburbs.

"It is a definite allocation and its early announcement is in no way a budget leak," he said.

"It was decided that the people in the region had every right to know as soon as possible what monies would be coming their way.

"Also they should know that this money (the $3 million) should in no way offset the amounts of other grants which would normally come into the area.

"If there is any suggestion of this happening the commission has 14 voices representing almost 500,000 people to ensure that nothing goes wrong."

Mr. Cairns described the $3 million as money for 'topping up' council funds to enable the councils to carry out urgent works.

He said that the system of allocation had not yet been worked out.

"The money will go to the Federal Department of Urban and Regional Development.

"From there it will be sent down to the State government and then distributed to the commission members."

"The formula has yet to be completely worked out but a lot of consideration will be given to councils with making it difficult to carry out urgent works."

Mr. Cairns said the commission was made up of members of formally constituted councils. Also that the commission was recognised by the Federal Government.

Needed

His father, Dr. Cairns, Federal Minister for Trade, said that much more money was needed for the area.

"The western region concept was one the present Labor Government deliberately encouraged — and the same is being done all over Australia," he said.

The Western Region Commission was one of the ways to involve people more directly in their own affairs in the region where they lived.

Mr. Phillip Cairns said that the commission had no intention of riding 'rough' shod' over State bodies.

Fiery election looms!

The Altona City Council elections this month seem likely to be a battle between the Australian Labor Party and the Altona Ratepayers' Association.

Last year three ratepayers' candidates were returned to council unopposed.

This year, three ratepayers' candidates will contest the elections with two former Labor Party councillors and a third Labor Party member.

The ratepayers' team has two former Altona mayors, Crs. Doug Grant and Pat Lynch and Altona Ratepayers' Association president, Mr. Alan Shaw, who is standing for council for the first time.

They will be opposed by former Labor Party councillors, Messrs. Alex Bond and Bob Harrison and Labor Party member, Mr. Tom Lavarato.

Speaking out for the ratepayers' team this week, Cr. Doug Grant, a resident of Altona for 50 years, told the Star he did not agree with allegations made last week in the Star, by former councillor, Mr. Alex Bond.

"Mr. Bond spoke about rate reform and yet he had nine years in council to do something about it last time in," said Cr. Grant. "In that time, he had ample opportunities to make all these changes."

'Wrong'

Cr. Bond also claimed Mr. Grant had been wrong in his criticism of council's winter fuel allowance to pensioners.

"This council does more in the way of winter fuel for pensioners than the neighboring municipalities of Williamstown, Footscray and Sunshine," he said.

"This year we spent $10,820 providing fuel for 574 pensioners and this was equivalent to a rate rebate of 25 per cent. or $20.

"By comparison Williamstown Council spent only $1000 on pensioners' fuel this year, Sunshine Council allocated four cwt. of wood for three bags of briquettes or $4 credit on electricity, oil or gas bills.

Footscray Council allocated three cwt. of wood or three bags of briquettes and no rebate allowance on electricity, gas or oil use."

"Under the circumstances I think our pensioners do better by comparison," said Cr. Grant.

Deficit

He said council's policy in the past five years had to some extent been dictated by reducing the huge deficit created by past Labor councils in Altona.

"And as for the comments about the present council being isolated from the community, no councillors could make themselves more available to the community than we do.

Cr. Grant, an industrial chemist, lives in Blyth Street with his wife and two sons.

He is a Justice of the Peace, a member of the Altona Hospital Board and a Life Governor of Altona and Western General Hospitals. A former playing member of Altona's hockey and cricket clubs, he is a member of Altona Council's finance committee and member of the Altona Primary School committee and Altona High School Advancement Councils.

His experience in environmental matters has proved valuable in his roles as council representative on the Western Suburbs Pollution and Environmental Committee and as holder of Altona Council's environment portfolio.

Cr. Grant is also a member of the Clean Air Society of Australia and New Zealand and an Associate of the Royal Australian Chemical Institute. He is an Associate of the Oil Color and Chemists' Association and was Mayor of Altona during 1970/71.

Cr. Pat Lynch, a painter, lives in Blackshaws Road, Altona North, with his wife and two children. He has been an Altona councillor for six years and was mayor during the 1971-72 year.

The Irish-born councillor has been adviser to Altona's junior council for four and a half years and is vice president of the Western Suburbs Municipal Association. He is a Life Governor of Altona and Western General Hospitals.

He is on the advisory council of Altona North Technical School and is council's representative for Altona City Soccer Club.

Cr. Lynch is an active member of St. Leo's Church in Altona North and holds council's portfolio for education.

Supporting the comments by Cr. Grant, Cr. Lynch said: "The Labor Council certainly put up more buildings than us but we've had to pay them off. When I was elected to council, there was a deficit of $115,000 that had to be met.

The 'third ratepayers' candidate, Mr. Alan Shaw was a foundation member of the group which ousted the Labor Party from Altona Council.

A resident of Cambridge Street, Seaholme, he is president and a foundation member of the Altona Ratepayers' Association.

He has lived in Altona for 13 years and before that he resided in Williamstown. He has two daughters who are school-teachers in Altona.

An active union member for 25 years, he has been shop steward for the Textile Workers and Transport Unions and is a member of the Federated Clerks' Union.

He is a Justice of the Peace and former assistant secretary of Altona Bowling Club. For the past 15 years, he has assisted with youth education schemes in the western suburbs.

An active member of Altona's Anglican Church, he was a member of the committee which raised funds for the new church and has been a constant worker for charities in the municipality, particularly Altona Hospital.

Summing up the case for the ratepayers' team, Cr. Grant said: "We would hope that the people of Altona will give us some recognition for the work we have done but we are also conscious of the fact that this is a strong Labor area as was proved recently by the election victories of Dr. Cairns and Gordon Stirling. I sincerely hope we can do well enough to keep Altona Council a ratepayers' council."

We will not give in to Housing Comm.

He's involved with Altona

Mr. Alan Shaw, who is a candidate in this month's council elections, has been an active member in community affairs for many years.

In a statement to The Star, Mr. Shaw says: "As I have been approached by various ratepayers to accept nomination at the forthcoming elections I do so realising the needs of the ratepayers and the community in general.

"I have been an active member in community affairs for many years and look forward to offering my experience in the following fields for the benefit of the community.

"For 15 years, I have been involved in youth education in the western suburbs.

"Having lived locally all my life I know the progress that has been made in Altona and realise the future aims of the council having been a regular attendee at council meetings for many years and I look forward to assisting in its continual progress,

Mr. Alan Shaw, a candidate in this month's council elections.

as my interests have always been in Altona.

"For 25 years I have been a financial union member and shop steward. At present I am a member of the Federated Clerks' Union.

"I am a Justice of the Peace.

"Both my daughters are local school teachers and live in Altona.

"I am a foundation member and for the past three years president of the Ratepayers' Association, also an active campaigner for Altona's severance from Werribee.

"I have been an active member of the Anglican Church for 12 years and assisted on the fund raising committee which was responsible for building the new church.

"I look forward to the support of all ratepayers in Altona to elect ratepaying representative councillors at the forthcoming elections to maintain the stable administration we now enjoy."

Altona Council will not give into the desires of the Housing Commission.

This is the attitude presented by Cr. Doug Grant in a statement to the Star.

Cr. Grant is standing for re-election in this month's council elections.

In his statement he says: "Most people will agree that some mistakes were made by previous councils regarding zoning of land.

The present council desires that this not be repeated and therefore desires to fight the Housing Commission in its present proposal relating to zoning on the Paisley briquette area.

The present council desires that a very substantial area be maintained between the heavy industry within this area and the proposed Housing Commission development.

"With this in mind the present council has already objected to the Housing Commission's original proposal which proposed that 8100 people would be housed on 135 acres.

"Your present council has already stated its objections to the MMBW planning committee and the Housing Commission has notified the MMBW that it now agrees to reduce the proposed population from 8100 to 6600 and to increase the public open space from 15.6 acres to 26 acres.

"The reduction in the number of people to be housed is 18.5 per cent, not 20 per cent, as stated by the Housing Commission.

"Is this another attempt to 'con' the people?"

"The Housing Commission has also agreed to reduce the area adjacent to industry and have withdrawn the area which will be developed for housing back to 300 ft. from the railway line.

"This is exactly what the council desires for any area adjacent to any heavy industry.

"Council has also made representations to members of Parliament and requested that they use their good offices to have the Housing Commission reduce the proposed population back to more than that existing for the remainder of the city.

"This would bring the population density back to 4000 people per 6600 as the latest proposal suggests.

"Council agrees that people must be adequately housed and desires to co-operate.

"However, the council will not be dictated to, if the people show that they are behind the council in their objections to the Housing Commission then council will continue this fight."

Council has objected also because of the likely affect of pollution in this area and wants the Housing Commission to reduce the height of their housing back to conform to the council by-laws of two storeys not four storeys.

Council has engaged Dr. Ledger of the Town Planning Department of Melbourne University and Professor Robertson of the architectural department of Melbourne University to advise that they are prepared to negotiate with the Housing Commission for a better deal.

However, the present council desires that the Housing Commission agrees to all the council requests. We desire to have the best for Altona.

$500 CLOTHING IN RAID ON CLEANERS

Clothing worth more than $500 was stolen in a raid last weekend on the Spotless dry cleaners' factory, in New Street, Kingsville.

The theft was reported to police by the factory manageress, Mrs. Nola Morrison, of Marigold Avenue, Altona North and the investigation is now being headed by Footscray CIB.

A wide variety of men's, women's and children's clothing was stolen. It included a wedding gown. Detectives have been supplied with a detailed list and description of the stolen clothing.

The wooden back door of the factory was battered down between 5.30 p.m. last Friday and 8.45 a.m. Saturday.

An iron bar across the doorway was then removed to allow the clothing to be loaded into a large vehicle.

$40 million for west

• From Page 1

"We see the commission as an advisory complex which can assess the nature of problems and assist."

He said the move for acquisition of Government land in Sunshine could breathe new life into the area.

"That land should not be left idle. It could be used as open space.

"Also some of it could be used for housing and industrial purposes. This would turn it into rateable property."

Mr. Cairns said the commission's move to take over the empty Wiltona hostel was caused by the great need for temporary housing in the region.

"Right now there are approximately 1000 families in the west living in sub-standard housing.

Before giving his talk, tomato, broccoli and Mr. Finemore extended greetings to the director of the National Gallery, Mr. Eric Westbrook, who has recently returned from a trip to Paris where he arranged an exhibition of Australian artwork.

Mr. Finemore told the guests that the gallery was a community one, which in a sense, was a big business without having the ability of being self supporting.

He added that it relied mainly on the generosity of bequests and donors, support which had created a gallery better than in any other Australian city.

Members and friends were served Chicken Kiev — filleted breast of chicken filled generously with garlic butter, wound tightly into an olive-shaped roll dipped in specially prepared wine batter and deep fried.

This was served on a bed of rice with grilled

Art man talks to gourmets

Mr. Brian Finemore, a graduate of the department of fine arts at Melbourne University, was the guest speaker at the last meeting of the Westgate Diners' Club.

A vintage Riesling accompanied the meal.

Guest speaker at this month's meeting of the club will be Mr. David J. Paterson, who is public relations manager for Penfolds Wine Pty. Ltd.

A chance to help youth

All persons interested in the welfare of youth are invited to attend the annual meeting of the Altona Youth Club.

The meeting will be held at the youth hall, Civic Parade, on Monday, September 3, starting at 8 p.m.

More adults are needed to help run the club.

Val's Column

Hello Girls,

Wow! Have you been wondering what perfume that person next to you was wearing?

If you had have asked, it probably was Coty's new Styx perfume.

New, modern, striking Styx — a real witches brew.

The powder of Styx is a silky, shimmery talc.

Three layers of magic witch's brew bath-oil.

Eau de Styx — a wicked splash-on cologne — or you would like the spell spinning spray. Styx Creme Fatale in the new purple creme parfum.

And the precious essence of Styx devilry drops.

Then of course it may have been one of Max Factors Perfume Body Potions in smooth long lasting essence form. Use one or mix two together for an unforgettable experience.

If you are just about in need of a new mascara girls — here's your opportunity to buy a good one, and at the same time receive a refill for later.

Fabulash and a refill — the lash lengthener and mascara in one — by Revlon is now on a bonus offer.

We talked about Revlon's Eterna '27' last week girls — and now here is your opportunity to try these wonderful products.

Revlon has sent us a two-in-one — a trial size you could call it, Eterna 27 night cream and Eterna 27 Under Makeup Treatment Base. Eterna 27 cream is a medium textured cream formulated with Progenitin, emollients, humectants and moisturisers. These Eterna products visibly reduce signs of ageing skin, correct dehydration and loss of the skins elasticity. They are recommended for any skin showing any signs of age.

Don't get alarmed. Signs of age does not mean "over 30's" — young teenage girls can have "signs of age" around their eyes, frown lines, chin lines. Help all these now with Eterna products.

Bye.

When Laverton had only one house...

The Mayor of Altona, Cr. H. Weaver in a message to ratepayers, traces the history and background of Altona's fastest developing area, Altona Meadows.

He says: "The history of Altona Meadows goes back to the booming eighties. Altona Meadows, or Laverton Estates as it was then known, is mentioned several times in the book by Michael Cannon, The Land Boomers.

"The broad acres of Altona Meadows were bought on terms, then subdivided and offered for sale in the usual manner on low deposits.

"To help sales along, Mr. C. R. Stables published in 1886 a small booklet, Laverton, the New and Model Suburb of Melbourne. This was an early exercise in public relation techniques which somehow neglected to mention that the suburb consisted of exactly one house.

"Nevertheless, the partnership's land sales at Laverton were conducted in a spirit of extraordinary generosity. The paddocks were situated near the main line from Geelong to Melbourne, only 30 minutes by train to the city, for the full price of £10 each.

"The deposit was one sovereign and the payments were 10 shillings monthly. In addition, the partners offered to build houses free of interest, advancing 75 per cent. of the total cost themselves.

"My first knowledge of the land was some 40 years ago when my father used to drive our T-model Ford from Footscray past this area to Campbell's Cove, Point Cook, where my family including five sisters or four sisters, would spend our Christmas holidays camping and fishing.

"Some five years later than that, while living in Altona, this area was a favorite rabbiting spot for myself and my school friends.

"I recall two houses on the now Altona Meadows Estate. One was in Queen Street, near Victoria Street, and a Mrs. Weaver lived there — no relation to me — and I always recall this particular house because my dogs were always chasing her half a dozen cats.

"The other house was over in Alma Avenue, near Talbot Street, and I believe a Mr. Balwyn lived in that particular house.

"In approximately 1961 Altona Council took an interest in the area and wrote to some 2500 block owners in effort to liaison with them to improve the area generally.

"Their thoughts were to make the blocks bigger, modernise the street layouts, omit the back lanes and generally improve the old subdivision.

"Council received only 50 answers to the 2500 property owners they sent letters to, and even these 50 were not willing to co-operate to improve the area. Thoughts for the development of this area again died like it did in 1886.

Development of Altona Meadows was not revived until council decided to make the streets north of Queen Street. This move proved successful and the first new house was built in the area in 1971.

"At that particular stage, it was my suggestion that the council adopt the name Altona Meadows in lieu of the old name, Laverton Estates. This name has since been accepted generally in the area.

Today Altona Meadows has over 100 houses which are all brick or brick veneer and many sons and daughters of Altona citizens are building there.

"The new pioneers of Altona Meadows are real battlers as any new estate has its teething troubles.

"Weekends and nights you can see the young people out collecting garden rocks, maybe chasing an odd snake and also battling with their real, hard soil but really enjoying every bit of it. Hats off to the '73 pioneers of the Meadows.

"Altona City Council is doing its share to help these pioneers.

"Some 40 blocks have been bought by council for kindergartens, parks, a central shopping centre and other council amenities. Also, four blocks have been bought at the entrance to the area from Laverton.

"These four blocks on the corner of Queen and Merton streets, will be used for an entrance park to our city and will take the shape of something similar to the Bassett Reserve on the corner of Somerville Road and Geelong Road, Footscray.

"In North Road, council has obtained Crown land for a major sporting area. Trees and shrubs have been given by the council to the first 50 houses occupied.

"The Education Department is currently procuring two school sites in the area.

"The future looks rosy for the newest part of Altona progressing south-west, and to end it all, I will quote a few words from the owners of the first new house built in the area: 'How delighted we are to live in Altona Meadows.'

"As we are about to celebrate 12 months in the area, allow me to say a few things about it.

"It is quiet and peaceful, a few minutes to a good shopping centre in Altona, a few minutes to the beach, five minutes to the golf course, five minutes to Geelong Road, 30 minutes to Melbourne and there are many nice, young people settling in the area.

"Two things that we enjoy are the gardens and the good free library that Altona has. We don't mind travelling to these.

"Also, there is no air pollution out here in Altona Meadows and we are very happy to be here."

Youth uproots tree — fined $25

Damage to a beautification scheme has been done by an Altona youth who uprooted a young tree in a Footscray car park, Mr. G. Miller, SM, said at Footscray Court last Thursday.

Because of this, a conviction and penalty were called for, he said. He fined Mark Andrew Wilson, 17, of Cherry Avenue, Altona North, $25 in default five days' imprisonment.

It was "strange in these times" that young people appeared to enjoy damaging public property, Mr. Miller said.

He added he recorded the conviction in the face of character evidence from Wilson's father and written references that spoke of Wilson in "glowing terms".

Immediately Wilson was charged with wilful damage to the tree, estimated at $5, a man called from the body of the court, "Can I table references on my son's behalf?"

Mr. Miller said the opportunity would be given later in the hearing.

Constable R. J. Grigg, of Footscray police, said he and other police were on patrol duty about 9.55 p.m. on July 20, when they saw three youths running across a car park in Paisley Street, yelling to each other.

Wilson was one of the youths and Const. Grigg saw him pull a young tree from the ground and throw it across the car park.

Asked to explain his actions, Wilson said he had been drinking "a little."

Wilson had obviously been drinking, but was not drunk, Constable Grigg added.

Asked if he had anything to say to the court, Wilson said: "I'm sorry."

Alan Thomas Wilson, of Cherry Avenue, Altona North, said he was the defendant's father and his son lived at home.

On the night of the offence his son and two friends had been in Footscray to book passages on an overseas trip they planned for next Christmas. They were excited over it.

They had shared a jug of beer between them and were not used to drinking.

His son had never been in trouble and had "hardly had a wink of sleep since," he added.

THROUGH THE PIPELINE

with JOHN BRINDLEY

A comprehensive study of environmental aspects of the proposed Yarra Brae Reservoir is being undertaken by the Board at the request of the Minister for Conservation.

The guidelines approved by the Director of Conservation, Dr. R. G. Downes, include a study of characteristics of the area such as climate, geology, soils, animal and plant life, aquatic life, special ecological features, urban and rural land use and the provision of facilities for public use.

Investigations are being made into the likely environmental effects of a reservoir of 9,500 million gallon capacity and the possible effects during both construction and subsequent operation, will be studied. In doing so, environmental problems will be identified and practical solutions to overcome them will be proposed.

I NSTALLATION of metric water meters which measure water consumption in litres instead of gallons has started, and so far nearly 33,000 of the new meters have been connected.

The Board has also started the mammoth task of eventually converting about 650,000 existing meters to measure in metrics.

Accounts will continue to be assessed on a "gallons" basis until the 1974/75 financial year when they will be computed in litres. Meter readings will be converted accordingly.

I NTENSIVE studies to determine the suitability of unplasticised poly-vinyl chloride and polyethylene as materials for sewer pipes are to be undertaken by the Board.

The trials will be conducted on a 400-block development at Keilor and are expected to start in November.

A tender of $1.8m. for the widening of Hoddle Street, Collingwood between Victoria Parade and the Eastern Freeway has been accepted by the Board.

The contract will cover landscaping, installation of a traffic control system and reconstruction of adjacent roads in addition to the major roadworks.

The work will increase the width of Hoddle Street from 66 ft. to 142 ft. for approximately one mile and will provide a divided road with four lanes on each side, permitting kerbside parking during off-peak hours.

Pressure needed to get welfare

Mrs. Hazel Wheelahan has said that the only way to get welfare assistance for the western suburbs is to use pressure.

Mrs. Wheelahan who is the Mayoress of Sunshine, was elected spokesman of the Welfare Committee of the Western Region Commission last week.

A public meeting to consider the welfare needs of the west will be held on Monday night at 8 p.m. in the Mariana Hall, Monash Street, Sunshine.

It will be chaired by Mr. Phillip Cairns, the commonwealth liaison officer for the Western Region Committee and the private secretary of Dr. Jim Cairns, Federal Minister for Secondary Industry and Overseas Trade.

Mrs. Wheelahan has said that the meeting will consider various aspects of a welfare submission to the Western Region Commission to be made to the Federal Government.

She said: "In view of the Western Region Commission's decision at its last meeting to restrict representation of community groups, on the commission to only one representative for all community areas it is clear that what Dr. Jim Cairns said about the need for pressure is becoming very relevant right on our own home front.

Dr. Cairns told us very clearly, in effect, that we can never leave anything to authorities, that if we did nothing we would get nothing, and we would have no right to complain either.

"Dr. Cairns also said that a part of Australian Government included people in action.

"Therefore if we are going to make certain we get what is needed for welfare in the west, it is clear we will have to pressure and make our voice heard loud and clear.

"Therefore I urge every person, interested in any way in welfare to attend next Monday night's meeting because it will start to decide the plans for the submission that will be made for welfare needs in the west to the Federal Government."

Mrs. Wheelahan added that the meeting would also be asked to pressure for full voting rights of the Regional Welfare Committee's Chairman on the Western Region Commission.

"While this clearly is a democratic right, it is now clear that we won't get it unless we pressure and fight for it."

One run, one win

Williamstown amateur athlete Geoff Warren won a veteran 5000 metres road race last weekend. It was Geoff's first run this season. He clocked 23 min. 0.3 sec.

Stamps sale

Highlights at the next meeting of the Williamstown Philatelic Society will be a sale by tender. Collectors will have the opportunity to buy stamps and other first-class material as well. The meeting will be held at the Mechanic's Institute Hall, Electra Street, Williamstown, on Thursday, August 16, at 8 p.m.

Cox's Gardens enchant him

A street in Williamstown, called Cox's Gardens, is Melbourne's most picturesque, according to artist James Farrell.

Mr. Farrell, whose exhibition opens at the Victorian Artists' Society Galleries, 430 Albert Street, Melbourne, on August 19, came to Ferguson Street on a sightseeing tour.

He liked what he saw and rushed home to get his paints and brushes.

Six of Mr. Farrell's paintings at the exhibition will be of Williamstown streets, capturing their serenity.

He describes his style as "impressionistic realism".

After attending the National Gallery School, Melbourne for four years, Mr. Farrell studied with Rupert Bunny at South Yarra.

His landscapes, seascapes, flower pieces and portraits have been bought for private collections in England, Canada, Malaysia and the USA. He is an active member of the Australian Conservation Foundation.

Antique Corner

By
J. FERRIS

In recent years there has been an increased interest in early Australian paintings.

I felt that here lies an area waiting for exploration by the keen collector.

Water-color painting had its beginnings in Europe and was especially popular in Britain. It would probably be true to say that water-color is "the English art".

The best examples of water-color paintings were produced between 1770-1880.

At first, water-color was not taken seriously as a form of painting in Europe. It was used only in a limited field—for example, the highlighting of maps.

Paul Sandby probably gave water-color its first true standing in the art world. He is often credited with the title "father of the water color". His story is interesting, as he was known to use foods to obtain the pigments for his water-colors.

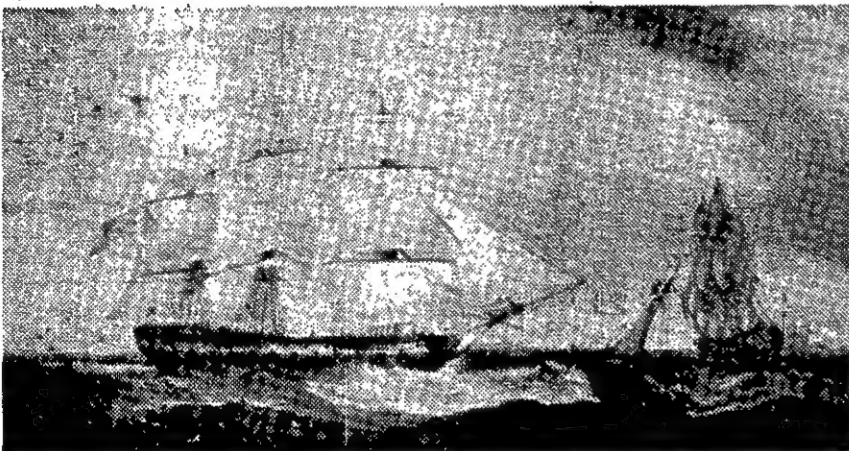

Early Australian artists were either settlers from Britain or Europe, or commissioned European artists, so their paintings were strongly influenced by their heritage.

The true Australian style in water-color painting did not emerge until 100 years or so after the colony started.

Some early water colorists of importance are Conrad Martens (1801-1878), Thomas Gill (1818-1880) and Eugene von Guerard (1877-1907), who specialised in goldfields scenes.

My personal advice on Australian water colors is to specialise in the botanical field. Many fine paintings of Australian flora and fauna can still be bought at a reasonable price.

Collecting: Water color paintings have a charm and delicacy of color which often give a calming effect to the viewer. As well as adding beauty to the home, water colors make a good investment, if bought wisely.

EXAMPLE of the English water color —
"Castle Eden," by Thomas Whitcombe, 1812.

I'm sure it's still worth hunting around junk shops, church and jumble sales, antique shops for that dusty treasure waiting to be uncovered.

I know it doesn't happen here often, but it does in Britain. In 1945, a keen-eyed collector found in an antique shop a water color by Rowlandson of Vauxhall Gardens. It cost him $2 and he sold it at Christie's for $6000 in 1954. The same painting fetched $22,000 in 1967. What would it fetch today?

Specialise: As in all collecting you must specialise within your chosen field. Collecting water colors is an extremely wide and varied field.

Why not limit your area by concentrating on a certain artist or a certain type of water-color painting?

Briefly, some areas to specialise in are: Landscape, marine, sporting, botanical, portraits and historical records (recording the day-to-day life of the times).

Some European artists of note are: J. W. Carmichael (see enclosed photo), J. Cosen, J. Cotman, D. Cox, P. De Windt, P. Sandby, W. Blake, J. Smart, J. A. Fitzgerald, Grimshaw, Girtton, J. W. Turner.

Early Williamstown paintings are worth thinking about seriously. The following are some famous marine water colorists: W. Amnerman, J. Cleverley, N. Pocock, H. Moses, D. Serres, S. Scott, T. Luny, T. Whitcombe.

Sporting pictures and water colors now command high prices. The typical fox-and-hound chase or horse race is well worth looking for.

Care of your water-colors: Water colors fade if they are constantly exposed to direct sunlight. For this reason they should be hung in a dull area, or, better still, kept in a folio, and brought out for display only on special occasions.

When you find a water color in an old mount or frame have it remounted professionally. If you want to do this yourself do not glue it to its mounting—as I have seen many times before. The proper way is to mount it in a hinge-type effect similar to those used in stamp folders.

If a water color is faded dismiss it. Train your eyes to recognise your artist, visit art galleries where top work is shown. The better a painting's quality the better its future worth. Nature has given only some of us the creative gift, but the power to appreciate is with us all.

If you have an item you would like assessed please sent it to J. Ferris, c/o Williamstown Advertiser. Enclose a picture if you can.

CHARGE OF THE HEAVY BRIGADE

Sports-sedan heavies will get it together at Calder on August 12 to compete in the Marlboro trophy race.

Calder's August meeting has traditionally turned out big racing, big action and big crowds. All the ingredients to get the adrenalin flowing.

With the likes of Moffat, Brock, Harvey, Jane and Thomson heading the entry list fans will be guaranteed a day of action-packed racing.

Moffat, making a welcome reappearance at Calder (USA last meeting) will be determined to topple the recently dominant Toranas.

In mounting his assault Moffat has had a special set of connecting rods made for his powerful 351 CID Ford engine.

Peter Brock in a Torana V8 has suffered from lack of efficient brakes in the past, putting him at a distinct disadvantage at Calder.

Shepparton flyer Bryan Thomson, nominated Marlboro's driver of the month following a recent string of successes in his Torana Chev-V8, is ready to tackle anyone.

Bob Jane's racing Torana V8 driven by John Harvey will appear in new livery. The familiar orange Torana will be decked out with white and red. Bob Jane will be there in his Monaro GTS 350.

Brand new car John Mann's brand new full race six-cylinder Ford Cortina, will make its debut at Calder on August 12.

Built using the parts from the current Cortina six, Mann's car should go much quicker than the Falcon GS he has been using.

Much of the detail work on Mann's car was done at Head Mod in Doncaster. The project started with a brand new body shell brought from Ford.

The engine firewall has been moved back no less than 16 inches so that the engine could, in turn, be moved back to bring about a better weight distribution.

Attention to weight has been a major consideration in the building of the Cortina and no less than seven hundredweight has been paired off to turn the machine into a hot performer.

Though a very specialised car, only the brakes are of non-standard origin.

All other parts are modified from standard components.

Weight saving in the body is restricted to fibreglass doors, bonnet and boot.

For its debut the Mann Cortina will use a 250-inch six-cylinder engine.

Formula Two With the Australian Formula Two championship becoming increasingly interesting, a great deal of attention is being attracted by this class of open-wheel racing car.

Calder Raceway has supported the category for a number of years, providing a great training ground for numerous drivers who are now on top of the ladder.

A heat of this year's series will be a feature at Calder on August 12.

Schools make much music

A music festival involving schools in the district will be held at Mount Joseph's College and Altona North Technical School this weekend.

Both functions will start at 1.30 p.m. and are free to anyone wishing to attend.

The mayor of Altona, Cr. Harry Weaver, will open both functions.

Sister Pius is the musical director in charge of the Mount St. Joseph's festival and Mr. D. Whitecross, principal of Altona West Primary School, is the chairman.

Mr. C. G. Duffy, principal of Altona East Primary School, is the musical director of the Altona North Technical School festival.

The chairman is Mr. F. Chaplin of Altona North Technical School.

Over the years, Altona council has sponsored education activities in the community and the festival and a continuing education programme is co-ordinated by a committee comprising the district inspector of schools and the principals of all schools in Altona with council representatives.

There are 14 schools in Altona with an enrolment of 9200 students.

THEY WASH ELEPHANT

The usual scene with bob-a-job week is shoe cleaning, car washing, mowing a lawn.

But Scouts and Cubs do offer to take on any job and last week members of the Hoadley area did just that.

They washed an elephant.

This rather unusual activity took place at Bullen's African Lion Safari, Rockbank, last Saturday morning.

They boys also cleaned up the lion enclosure.

The managing Director of the Lion Park said he thought that this would be the first time in Australia that boys have been permitted to wander around the lion enclosures at a lion park.

And added that the lions were removed to give the boys better access to their task.

And presumably less access to the lions!

April to wed Jeffrey

April, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hanlon jnr., of St. George's Road, Toorak, will marry Jeffrey Almond at Wesley Church, City, tomorrow.

Jeffrey is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Almond, of Martin Court, Altona.

A reception will be held at the Park Royal Motel.

CRUCIAL TENNIS YEAR AHEAD

"The coming 12 months will be extremely crucial in the development of the club," Altona tennis president Len Findlay said at the club's recent annual meeting.

"With a new pavilion to be erected very shortly and the number of members increasing the various committees within the club will need all the help they can get," said Mr. Findlay.

The club's three top administrators — president, treasurer, Cyril Turner and secretary, Suzanne Keown — were unanimously re-elected at the annual meeting.

Financial member's wanting to represent Altona in the forthcoming summer competition must hand their names into the secretary no later than August 13. Miss Keown may be contacted on 398 2407 or at 1 Rayner Street, Altona. Juniors are to hand their names to W. Thomas (398 2092), 10 Noorden Avenue, Altona.

Two pennant teams have made the finals. The C. pennant mens team, Kevin Courtney, Bill Rush, S. Whitcross and W. Thomas — finished on top and look like playing St. Kilda in the semi-final. The D Pennant Mens teams of Don Whitcross, Greg Whitcross, Bob Mithral and Neil Heyme who finished fourth play Judean Sports in their semifinal on Saturday week.

The B Grade finals of the club championships are being played on Saturday. A. Findlay and B. Murphy play in the men's final. J. Findlay plays the winner of J. Graham and L. Stracey for the women's title.

Draw on Saturday, August 11 is:

9.30 a.m.: N. Heyme - S. Jeffrey v. B. Murphy - L. Dryden; R. Graham - C. Turner v. G. Crofts - I. Colling.

10.30 a.m.: Winner of 9.30 match v. L. Meyers - D. Murphy; J. Graham v. L. Stracey; J. Morley - T. Gunn v. J. Crofts - I. Ford; W. Thomas - S. Whitcross v. W. Rush - K. Courtney.
